Session/Match/Festival Report

Despite Coach Neil needing to sit (!) this one out, our trip to Cranbrook was a real success.

Today we ventured away from Cross-in-Hand for the first time this season and joined Cranbrook for a joint training session. As usual the weather greeted us with chilling drizzle as we got onto the pitch. With over 40 players from both clubs we split up into 5 groups and ran various drills and training matches for the whole session. Some of these were new to our rugby stars but all soon got the hang and the coaches we impressed with what they achieved on the day

The drills focused on speed, tagging, sidesteps, 2 on 1. With all the boys doing all drills it was great to see our players getting better and better. Ready for our first forays into our new season of competitive rugby. See the photo gallery for the Hurricane talent on display.

Coach James ran our training matches and saw Hurricane tries galore. Far too many to mention here and a real credit to you all. Our defensive unsurprisingly did not fair so well as we have not run any specific drills as yet. From next week we will dividing the squad into two equal strength teams. This will help our defence get the players to understand how we can work best as a team.

We left Cranbrook feeling fantastic. The hospitality was first class, the drills well run and our players better at rugby than when they arrived. A big thank you to all at Cranbrook and I hope we can host them next year.

Check you emails/texts for update on next week.

Coach Matt
